AGRICULTURALISTS EXCHANGE FRANK WORDS WITH THE SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 14.—Secretary Houston reiterated today to representatives of agricultural interests in conference here that the treasury would not be a party to the withholding of any commodity from the market in order to maintain artificially high prices.

Spokesmen for the delegation were frank in their criticism of Mr. Houston's recent statement that prices had begun to recede, but the secretary told them as frankly that his statement properly represented conditions.

The delegation sought mainly to accept. I would reply to your have the treasury relieve the war direct question, "yes," a thousand finance corporation angling through it times, "yes," for as I said before they would be able to obtain funds to many must live or the world pays the finance exports which they claimed "price."

Secretary Houston explained that the treasury was constantly in the market to borrow money for the payment of current bills. He told them directly on German bonds or other securities, explaining that previous signals of cotton producers were that the government should make available to them the German market. A would have to be increased and the treasury would have to call on the and Secretary Smith, of South Carolina people continuously for more money.

Senator Smith declared that if such were necessary, it was the proper course to pursue. He said he had no objection to another popular loan if to reason why her bond should not be, the exigency required.

"Germany must live," the senator said. "You know she must live. I see objection to another popular loan if to reason why her bond should not be, the exigency required."

Ten Are Saved From Gallows By Reprieves

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Frank Campbell and James H. Reese, murderers, were hanged here today and Frank Zager, another slayer, will mount the gallows tomorrow.

CHICAGO, October 14.—Reprieves of stays of execution for all but three of the thirteen men who had been sentenced to hang here today or tomorrow, have been granted, and today Frank Campbell and James Henry Reese, were hanged. Frank Zager, who is under sentence to hang tomorrow.

Campbell was convicted of the murder of a saloon keeper during a robbery, and Reese was found guilty of killing his wife with a hatchet. Zager was convicted of killing two Greeks. Efforts to have him adjudged insane proved futile.

Chief of Police Harely, in discussing the reprieves for ten of the convicted men, issued the following statement: "The fact that all but three of these men have slipped their neck from the noose, is an indication to the public to go back to their profession."

His opinion of the big reduction in numbers this year, recently made the subject of a report by the Chicago Crime Commission, is in part at least the result of thirteen hanging sentences which served as warnings to the public.

When the criminals, who are watching these cases carefully, note the final result of the sentences they may be expected to smile at the law and begin thinking again."

Beautiful Actress Gives Up Stage Career For Home Life

The prettiest girl in 22,000 has decided to give up all thoughts of the stage or screen to play the part of wife and mother in real life. She is Mrs. Frances Hutton, who, as Frances Jordan, was selected by a government committee of artists during the war as the prettiest girl in 22,000 who submitted their photographs. Miss Jordan's picture was used on 300,000 calendars for the war risk insurance bureau, which were sent out to every American camp throughout the world. Previous to that she had posed for Penryn Stanslaw and other artists. A little girl baby is Mrs. Hutton's reason for giving up her stage career. Her last stage appearance was with Fred Stone in "Jack of Lantern" last year.

In Massachusetts They Would Punish Wilson First And Attend To Harding Afterwards

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright by Times Publishing Co.)
BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 14.—(Through a circuitous route) a campaign speaker but none seems to have developed a case exactly like that of Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts. He didn't become speechless, as is generally the case, by addressing open air meetings. No, he grew inarticulate when he heard that Governor Cox of Ohio had endorsed the League of Nations in the Whelan case after the memorable meeting at the White House.

The Senator engineered the Massachusetts delegation at the Democratic national convention and helped nominate Cox; shortly afterwards he went to Dayton and after a long talk with the nominee expressed the view that the Governor was all right on the League of Nations issue.

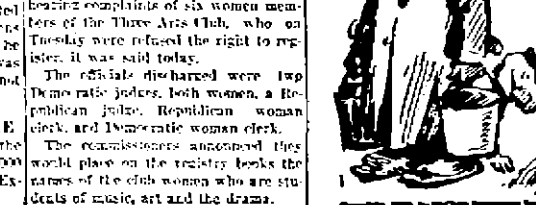

But the visit to the White House and the subsequent speeches by Governor Cox made it difficult for Senator Walsh to follow the new standard bearer of the party without jeopardizing his position in the Democracy of Massachusetts which is nine tenths of Irish birth or descent and believes that the League of Nations is a British plot and that even if article X were cut out it would still be of benefit to Great Britain. Indeed the basic objection of the Irish to the League is that it associates the United States with England and if the Irish had their way there would not be any deal.

PROTEST OF REPRISAL POLICY IS GROWING

LONDON, October 13.—Denunciation of the government's Irish policy by the liberal forces of the country represented by the recent statements of Viscount Grey, former Premier Asquith and Viscount Morley, seems likely to grow into a formidable movement. The latest recruit is Lord Robert Cecil, one of the most respected of the unionist leaders, who has joined Viscount Grey in a letter to the press calling for an investigation by a constitutional tribunal as to whether the government is responsible for the reprisals.

The letter begins by referring to Premier Lloyd George's Carnarvon speech as assuming that the reprisals have been confined to shooting in public of those reasonably suspected of an intention to attack them or who had been incontrovertibly guilty of the murder of their fellows. It proceeds:

"That is a very incomplete account of the reprisals as reported in the press. It is alleged on apparently overwhelming evidence that the armed forces of the crown have for months past systematically burned or destroyed buildings and other property in towns, villages and farms in Ireland; that they have fired rifles and thrown bombs at random, killing and wounding the inhabitants, and driving women and children of all ages and in all conditions of health, in terror to the fields and mountains."

"These acts undoubtedly were committed in revenge for horrible outrages perpetrated in the districts concerned, but they have not been confined to the individuals who have been guilty of such outrages. On the contrary, the victims have included Protestants and Unionists who used to be the bitter opponents of the Sinn Fein."

"It is further alleged that the policy, which produced these results was sanctioned by the ministers of the crown, including the prime minister himself. These are grave charges and require full, open and immediate investigation by that constitutional tribunal."

The first of these groups, it declares, comprises the "royotes" including the speculators and money brokers who "have acquired ill gotten gains under the various factions which have contended for power in Mexico, but are now hounded by the new order of things in Mexico and who have flooded the Washington hotels and state department corridors in unceasing hostility to Mexico."

The second group, the report alleges, comprises "an association of oil operators which has also carried on an active campaign against Mexico, but which has shown a willingness to wait until Mexico decides her petroleum difficulties equitably."

SIX WOMEN Held Up In A Taxicab

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Six women, wives of prominent manufacturers and business men here, were held up and robbed early today in a taxicab, of jewels valued at $4,500, and several hundred dollars in cash, but five of them saved the greater part of their jewelry, worth more than $30,000, by dropping it on the floor of the car, while the first woman was surrendering her jewelry.

The bandits, they said, were two young men who hopped on the running board of their taxicab as they were leaving a social function at the home of a friend.

The bandits ordered the driver of the car to drive to a lonely spot, and upon reaching there ordered the women to hand over their jewelry. Mrs. David Botwin, wife of the head of a shoe company, was the heaviest loser, handing over three diamond rings and a diamond lavalliere.

COURT HOUSE

Card Convicted; Sentenced

Jose Card, aged 22 years, negro, brought before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court Thursday on a charge of larceny, was found guilty; the jury turning its verdict into court shortly before the noon hour, after deliberating less than an hour. The defendant was promptly jailed before the bar and sentenced to the Reformatory by Judge Thomas. In passing sentence, the court told Card there was no doubt of his guilt and advised him to go to work and make an honest living when he is released from prison.

The crime for which Card was convicted was the theft of a diamond ring valued at $105 from the William Jewell store on July 9 last. The evidence showed that Card and his pal, Henry Hunter, also colored, entered the jewelry store and attempted to switch a phony diamond for the real one, but were detected by Walter Wilhelm, who held them at the point of a gun until the arrival of an officer. The state contended that the two men were acting together and that there was a conspiracy between them to steal the ring. The accused denied any connection with the robbery and declared he was not responsible for what Hunter did. Hunter was tried and found guilty by a jury recently and he was sentenced to the Reformatory.

Both Card and Hunter are believed to have been members of a gang of negro thieves rounded up by the local police for stealing diamonds and other merchandise from merchants in this city in recent months. Card was defended by Attorney Theo. K. Funk.

FRED HEIDER AND MEMBERS OF LISTEN LESTER COMPANY MAKE GREAT HIT AT C. OF C. LUNCHEON

Although "Listen Lester" is at the Hartman theatre in Columbus this week, the bigger hits of the show, Portsmouth's own Fred Heider and Earl Higley and the famous "Listen Lester" quartet, were transported to Portsmouth today, and all who were present at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, in the basement of the U. S. church, were more than pleased with this section of the big show, which is one of the finest musical shows on the road. Mr. Heider and Mr. Higley, with their parables, jokes and dancing numbers, bring down the house at every show, and the sample of their work on the stage as given at the luncheon, showed their Portsmouth friends why it is they always make a big hit. The other feature of the show is the quartet, and they also displayed their "warrior" before the luncheon crowd, their song numbers being but a sample of the part they have in the show.

The "star" of the quartet is William Renard, bass, who, with his comical antics, causes a ripple of laughter or an outburst of laughter each time he "breaks forth" with that deep voice of his. The quartet was also a great oration, as was also Mr. and Mrs. Heider and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Higley.

The luncheon was one of the most successful held so far, the attendance being well over the 200 mark, many being unable to find a place at the tables. The ladies of the church who served the dinner were complimented on the fine menu served in faultless style.

Manager J. B. Wiles, in a few well-selected words, introduced Fred N. Tynes as chairman of the meeting, stating that the chairman was a man well known in the theatrical business of Portsmouth. Mr. Tynes spoke of how Mr. Heider, the guest of honor, had left Portsmouth six years ago, bound and determined to make his mark in this world, in his profession. Today he stands in the first ranks of the entertainers of his class. Through all his rise to success he has never forgotten to boost Portsmouth. Mr. Tynes told of how Mr. and Mrs. Heider had visited Portsmouth last Sunday and how when they had told of the C. of C. initiation, the musical company had almost staged a stampede, all wanting to come.

Mr. Heider then took the floor with his wife and after the rounds of applause had substituted Mr. Heider said:

BUYING PUBLIC HAS REBELLED AGAINST HIGH PRICES

(By Associated Press.)
Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 16.—The buying public has "rebelled" against ever-mounting prices and has forced a period of readjustment of values, Vice-Governor Platt of the Federal Reserve Board, declared today in a speech here before the annual convention of the West Virginia Bankers' Association. Analyses of the country's business condition with respect to the price situation disclosed a marked lessening of demand, he said, adding that the refusal to buy was traceable directly to public sentiment against high prices.

The Republican party, the senator added, has no policy for one section that it does not preach for all sections alike.

REGISTRATION DAYS

Again registration is high. Friday and Saturday, the men and women voters of Portsmouth will be given their last chance to register for the November election.

If you wish to vote and have not as yet registered, you must do so sometime Friday or Saturday between the hours of 8 a. m. and 2 p. m. and 4 p. m. and 9 p. m.

Officials of the election board are predicting a last minute rush on Saturday night by both men and women.

Complete Program For Big Rally In Jackson

Final preparations for Harding Day at Jackson on October 20 under the auspices of the Southern Ohio Harding Club are being made rapidly by committees in charge of the affair.

The ceremonies start promptly at 11 a. m. with the following program: Star Spangled Banner—Columbus Republican Club.

Address—Hon. L. M. Foster, Athens, Music—Glee Club.
Address—Warren G. Harding.
Address—Hon. Nicholas Longworth, Music—Glee Club.
Address—Hon. Frank B. Willis.
Twenty counties are expected to be represented at Jackson that day to attend the meeting which will last the entire day. Numerous bands will help entertain and the Columbus Republican Club of Portsmouth will also be singing at the meeting.

The grounds have been electrically equipped and arrangements have been made whereby the voices of various speakers can be heard by all.

Parking arrangements have been made for 2000 cars in charge of experts who will be on duty within three minutes walk of the park.

Fifty beavers will be slaughtered for the huge old fashioned barbecue and thousands of gallons of burgoo will be available for the thousands that are expected to be present. Everyone is promised all they can eat and an all-around round entertainment is assured.

Cal Cron of the Cal Cron Detective agency of Cincinnati will be on hand to safeguard the huge crowd.

Entertainment At Manly Tonight

Under the auspices of Liberty Class No. 3, a splendid entertainment will be given at the Manly Methodist church, Eleventh and Clay streets, this evening, entitled: "Old Mads' Club". The entertainment will be a one continuous laugh and round of pleasure. Those who will take part in the playlet have practiced faithfully and the play promises to go off without the slightest hitch or jar. The costumes to be worn by the performers will be of the 1845 vintage and so much interest has been created in the affair that a packed house is looked for. It is quite probable the playlet will be repeated on Friday evening.

Is Improving

Ted Jackson of Ninth street continues to improve from an operation he recently submitted to in Hempstead hospital for the removal of his appendix.

Taken To Camp

John W. LeVahl, soldier, who was arrested by Officer Powers in the North End last week, was returned to Camp Sherman today by an officer who came after him. He was absent without leave.

Women To Attend Big Rally

Judging from the enthusiasm that is being displayed throughout the north end in political affairs, a huge crowd will pack the Lincoln theater near Eleventh and Waller streets tonight to hear Miss Thelma Brown, representative of the Republican National Committee and an instructor at Wilberforce college, speak on the national issues of the present campaign.

Everything is in readiness for the affair, all the necessary arrangements having been completed Wednesday night and those who attend are promised a fine speech by a woman who not only knows her subject thoroughly but who is a finished speaker as well.

The committee who will have charge tonight, are:

Reception Committee—Mrs. Mary Hogan, chairman; Mrs. Frances Gentry, Mrs. Georgia Walton, Mrs. Nettie Freeman.

Chairman Mrs. Frances Gentry; Vice Chairmen—Mrs. Callie Banks, Mrs. Lou White, Mrs. Ruth Berry, Mrs. Wm. Corns, Mrs. Grant Metcalf.

There's always room at the top

for Highest Possible Quality at Lowest Possible Price

After smoking your first Spur, you might say "just right," "immense" or "great"—means the same thing. Means: "There was room at the top for a cigarette that can refresh a tired and much-tried taste. And Spur's that cigarette."

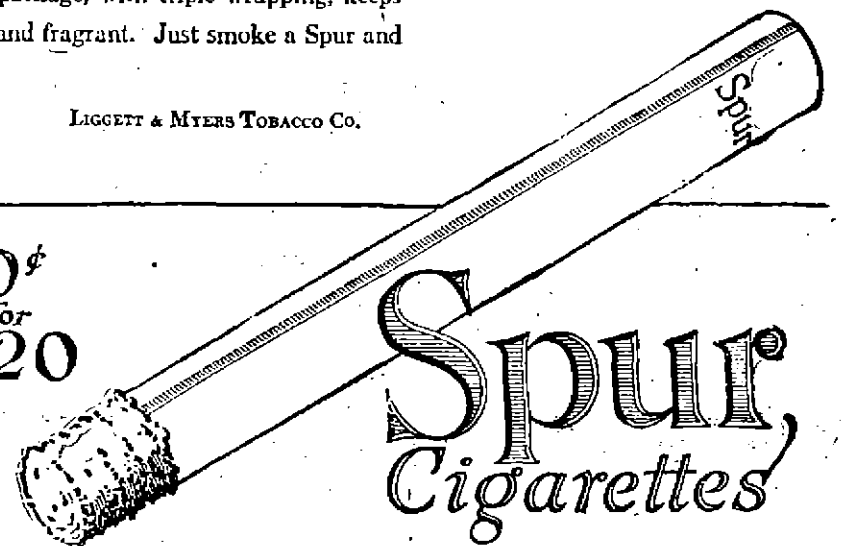

In the new Spur blend you find:

The richness of the full bodied Oriental leaf tempered by the mildness and fragrance of Burley and other choice home-grown tobaccos. It's a happy blend that brings out to the full that good tobacco taste.

And what's more! Satiny imported paper, crimped, not pasted—makes an easier-drawing, slower-burning cigarette. A mighty neat "brown and silver" package, with triple wrapping, keeps Spurs fresh and fragrant. Just smoke a Spur and see.

New York Physician Tells Why More Organic Phosphate Means More Nerve Vitality

The Nerves, the Blood, the Boons of Over 40% of American Men and Women Need Organic Phosphate and Need It Badly.

A Vigorous Healthy Body and Keen Active Mind Belongs to Those Who Have Plenty Of It.

When will weak, played out, thin, puny and aimless people learn that there is nothing much the matter with them and that all they need is a few grains of the right kind of phosphate every day for a few weeks to make them as energetic, vigorous and forceful as of old?

Every month, thousands of people are tormented by lack of sufficient nerve vitality is the underlying cause of many diseases.

Your nerves control your body and without an abundant supply of nerve force life is weary, fear and disappointing.

Phosphorus is one of the vital elements of every living cell in your body and there are millions of them. Nature's way is to supply phosphorus to these cells with the food you eat in the form of phosphate.

But in millions of people modern foods do not supply enough organic phosphate, so there you are.

And just for the lack of this same organic phosphate which every drug just sells under the name of Bitter-phosphate 40 percent and over of the men and women of America are today crying in the wilderness for health and strength and a chance to live a cheerful, vigorous, helpful life.

"Nerve weakness, both physical and mental, is indeed a curse to the nation," says a well-known New York physician.

Feed your nerves the food that makes nerve force; that helps to rebuild every run-down, starting cell in your body.

"If I had my way Bitter-phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor in the land," says Frederick M. Kolbe, M. D., Editor-in-Chief of Physicians' Who's Who, a nationally known authority of medical text books and a brilliant physician.

Later on Dr. Kolbe says: "It is not difficult to detect women who have plenty of nerve vitality; nerves that are rich in organic phosphate," this is equally true of men: "the women are usually cheerful, magnetic and pleasant; they have youth and vigor at 50 and even 60 years and are bubbling over with vitality. You don't find them pale, weak, nervous or lagging looking at 40 or complaining of this or that ailment."

This Is Your Last Chance to get your O-Cedar Polish Mop at The Old Price Advance Prices Effective Nov. 1st

BUT a few days remain for you to buy an O-Cedar Mop at the old price.

Increasing manufacturing costs make the raise in price necessary if we are to continue to give you the biggest, most convenient—time, money and labor saving household utility.

The increase is only 25c—but 25c is worth saving.

Originally, (before the war), the price of the O-Cedar Polish Mop was $1.50.

During the war, we used war materials—short length cotton—mill ends of drill—surplus steel for centers and by making the mop smaller we were able to keep the price down.

Now the sources of supply of most of these items are cut off. We must go back to before-the-war materials and pay today's prices for them. For instance cotton cord cost 14c to 16c per pound before the war. Today it costs us 58c. Handles that cost 4c in 1914 cost 12c today. Our labor costs have advanced 200%. And so on.

We will not make a mop that is not up to the O-Cedar standard. We can't continue the O-Cedar standard at present prices. So the advance of 25c is absolutely necessary for us to continue O-Cedar Mops as the millions of housewives want them.

The 25c advance in price is effective November 1st. Even if you do not need a new O-Cedar Mop just now it will pay you to buy one at your nearest store today.

Almost every woman in America knows the work—the time—and the money the O-Cedar Mop saves. And how much prettier, brighter and cleaner it makes the floors. They know it saves back-breaking stooping and bending. When you use an O-Cedar Mop your floors will be the envy of your neighbors.

Easy and Simple to Clean and Renew

Second only to the wonderful utility of the O-Cedar Mop is its simplicity. No trick to learn to wash, clean or renew it. It can be washed and cleaned without bother and muss to take it apart, and fuss and work to put together. When an O-Cedar Mop needs renewing, simply wash it in boiling water, pour a little O-Cedar Polish in the can and let mop stand in it over night. The next morning it is practically as good as new.

Get an O-Cedar Mop today. Your dealer guarantees it to give perfect satisfaction or will return your money.

Today's Prices: $1.25, $1.50, $1.75

Prices November 1st: $1.50, $1.75, $2.00

Prices Advance on November 1st.

Conditions beyond our control have forced us to add 25c. to the selling price of every O-Cedar Mop on November 1st. Save money by buying now.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family remedy, ready and reliable. Cures nearly all.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant. For children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2 1/2 ounce bottles of Pines in a pint bottle. Fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Use the electric mixer, beaters, or even a hand mixer. Beat the mixture until it is thick and creamy. Then add the Pines and beat again. Pour into a glass jar. Seal with a cork. This you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It's easy to make, and gives prompt results. It beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant. For children like it—and it is pure and good.

Put Up Real Scrap

The Doctors team in the Volley Ball Association played their first practice game last night at the Wilhelmshalle hall, and they put up a good scrap against Selby's second team. Considering the fact that only two of their number had ever played volleyball before, the fact that they won the third game of the evening, speaks for itself.

The Doctors are putting a team in the Association that will, before long, make the other teams sit up and take notice. With such six-footers as Dr. Tappin, Dr. Hupp, when the Association starts its regular schedule next week, any team that dares them will have a run for its money.

The Doctors play their second practice game on Friday afternoon, when they meet the Wheelers.

BILLY WHISKERS

He was never more surprised in his life than at the effect of his question on the tough and whiskered old Coon. For no sooner had the word "circus" passed his lips than the Coon faded away and dropped down in a huge heap with his head hanging out of the big knothole which served as the door of his house. As Billy could not climb up the trunk of the tree to fan him or dash water in his face there was nothing to do but wait for him to revive.

pretty soon he began to show signs of returning life and finally pulled himself to his feet again. Billy was then more astonished at what he said than at the awful expression on his horrified face.

"He looked" as Billy said when he told the story years afterward, "as though he had seen forty ghosts with every last one of them after him."

When the Coon began to speak his voice was so cracked and so squeaky that Billy wouldn't have known that the bold old Coon was talking had he not seen his jaws waggling. This is what he said:

"William Whiskers (he called him William) never mention that horrible name to me again. It makes memories that I cannot endure. The very thought of them makes me faint and spoils my appetite for days. Years ago I was captured and sold to a circus and it was nine horrible months before I was able to escape. Ever since the very thought of all I endured makes me weak and sick. Nights after eating too much, even of the tenderest chicken, I have the most awful nightmares, when I see again those horrible monkeys who worried me until I was almost crazy. I hated them most of all. If the time ever comes when I catch a monkey alone, I'll make mince meat of him if it is the last thing I ever do. But the monkeys were not all. I can hear yet in my dreams, the roar of the lions, the snarling tigers and wildcats, can see the crowds of people and feel the canes that were shoved through the bars of my cage and pained into my ribs, and can hear and see that fool of a clown saying and doing the same silly things day after day. Oh, it was awful! It makes me faint to think of it."

The story told by the old Coon made Billy very sober and again he wondered if he had better not stay at home and take no risks, for he said to himself:

"What if the circus folks should take it into their heads to capture me and make me one of their attractions?"

ALL EYE STRAIN SHOULD GET ATTENTION.

There is no such thing as eye strain that is slight enough to be neglected. Any error of refraction that is important enough to produce eye strain is important enough to demand correction. And here is another point—nothing is gained by putting it off from time to time. In cases of eye strain DO IT NOW should be the practice. We correct all degrees of eye strain with glasses.

The Democrats of Massachusetts will have a state ticket, yet the recent state convention at Springfield where the Democratic national platform on the League of Nations was endorsed had about 200 votes as contrasted with the two thousand normally represented. Not a single Irish Democrat of prominence, with the exception of Michael O'Leary—not even Senator Walsh himself—attended the convention. Mr. O'Leary had been nominated for Governor in the primaries but withdrew in favor of Marcus Coolidge, a Democrat, who was given a sort of Franklin Roosevelt nomination so as to derive some benefit from the name of Coolidge.

The Democrats named as electors what the average worker in the party calls a "high brow" man like Charles W. Elliot and Charles Francis Adams, but whoever was in charge of the business of picking electors to go on the ticket slipped a cog, by not consulting Mr. Adams, who, by the way, owns the famous yacht Resolute and is a descendant of John Adams. He has announced that he will vote for Harding but that if he is elected he will abide by the desire of the other electors. There is no chance of his being elected, but it illustrates the awkwardness of the Democratic party in this state this year.

As a matter of fact there are some Irish who will vote the party ticket they have always voted and will on election day submerge their innermost Irish feelings. It will not be a wholesale desertion.

The Republicans themselves are partly responsible for this as Senator Harding has said publicly he didn't believe American should meddle in the Irish question and he remarked in the Irish question the other day that he believed the American people would resent the British government to tell us to give the Philippines their independence. How times do change. Just a few years ago somebody got up in the House of Representatives in Washington and declared that the Catholic church had fought the grant of independence and the same speech accused the Irish of being inconsistent in not supporting the movement for a Philippine republic. Whereupon Representative Gallivan, Democrat of Massachusetts, delivered himself of an invective against the aforenamed somebody, declaring there was no comparison between the people of the Philippines and the great Irish race. Yet Senator Harding did use a comparison of Irish and Philippine independence and it hasn't hurt vitally. Dignity with the Wilson administration and the alleged failure of the president to wring Irish freedom from the British at the Paris conference is the first and foremost thought of the Irish Democrats.

They will punish Wilson first and attend to Brother Harding afterwards. Probably the banners and decorations will not have been taken down twenty-four hours after March fourth next when a delegation of Irish would be asking American intervention in the Irish controversy. Also it cannot be said that the Republicans have shown much hospitality to the new Irish element coming their way this year. The Republicans of British origin do not seem to fraternize at Republican gatherings with the Irish Democrats. The Irish are by no means a permanent loss to the Democrats of this state. They will be back in the party just as soon as they have expressed themselves on the League issue and matters Wilsonian.

Bare Big Whiskey Ring

sent in charge of a porter to a designated person in upper New York state. From this point the liquor could have found its way to New York city. Operations of a gang of run-runners between Canada and the United States is said to account for large amounts of liquor now offered for sale in New York.

He Located a Saloon

A few days ago one investigator found a saloon in the theatrical district which specializes at Scotch and Irish whiskey at one dollar a drink and from twelve to fifteen dollars per quart. The usual price for liquor sold over the bar in New York was found to be fifty cents.

Officials of the internal revenue department today denied that a woman employee of the department had been found guilty of accepting bribes to grant withdrawal permits.

The removal of Mrs. Gladys W. Wurlinton, former prohibition commissioner for California, from office was due it was stated, to the fact that "prohibition affairs in that state were not being efficiently administered." It was asserted, however, that nothing has so far been disclosed that could connect Mrs. Wurlinton with the Chicago scandal.

One Large Ring, Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The evidence we have indicates the existence of one large ring or group of bootleggers who think and act together.

This is the statement Chief Assistant United States Attorney Ben Matthews made.

The federal authorities have definitely started an investigation based on the confession of H. A. Sadler, a broker of this city looking toward the smugling of a nationwide whiskey ring which is believed to be in existence.

Sadler's confession is in the possession of Federal Attorney Francis D. Caffer and prohibition agent for New York, Frank L. Boyd. The confession implicates several prominent New Yorkers.

"Big Bill" Edwards, whose name it was alleged was signed to letters of introduction, issued the following statement:

"I never heard of the man. If he has any letters signed by my name, they are rank forgeries."

According to Matthews, these crooks have printed false cards and have even impersonated federal officials such as John F. Kramer, chief of the prohibition enforcement service.

Booze Curb in Gotham

On the crooked streets which weave in and out about the granite structure of police headquarters the first tough curb market is in session, it is reliably reported.

Young Italians gesticulate and talk volubly in Italian. Policemen from headquarters frequently club a message through their hands. Sometimes the tough lookers find themselves haggling over the price of a shipment of liquor at the very door of the police department.

Camouflaged deliveries and trucks wait it is said by those "in the know" for the deals to be closed in order to speed away with the liquor.

Thousands on thousands of quarts exchange hands daily. The liquor is carted to New York, New England and the north Atlantic states, as well as New York.

Frequently, say the reports, prohibition agents ride with the chauffeurs ready to flash official permits to annoying questioners. The barrels also bear official looking revenue stamps and other official labels, which have been obtained somehow.

A thorough investigation of this surreptitious market was promised tonight.

CALL JURY IN WINDY CITY

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Federal Judge K. M. Landis will draw a special jury to investigate the alleged whiskey smuggling ring in this city. The jury is called to New York, New England and the north Atlantic states, as well as New York.

Frequently, say the reports, prohibition agents ride with the chauffeurs ready to flash official permits to annoying questioners. The barrels also bear official looking revenue stamps and other official labels, which have been obtained somehow.

or any other that are offered in good faith to further clarify or reassure and that they do not have the purpose of destruction.

"It has been apparent," the governor continued, "that the entire purpose of the senatorial clique has been destruction of the league and repudiation of the purposes for which we entered the war."

"America has forty million voters who are getting sick and tired of the purposely created doubt and uncertainty and who now demand to know whether Senator Harding, intends as ex-President Taft has implied, to repudiate the result of the solemn referendum in the forthcoming election on the greatest issue that has ever been before the people."

In every state and city and town and village, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the people of this country are holding indignation meetings to show their resentment against the clique and against the candidates that have shown their willingness to sacrifice the honor of the nation to win a partisan victory at the polls. Here we have the proposal by Senator Harding and the approval of ex-President Taft that we play fast and loose with fundamental rights of American citizens and that we even disregard their definite decision of purpose as expressed in election."

After closing his fourth Indiana visit last night at Fort Wayne, Governor Cox brought his League of Nations and other causes to central Ohio, with engagements at Van Wert, Delphos, Lima, Wapakoneta, Sidney, Piquette, Urbana and Columbus, the state capital. The governor is billed for addresses at Delaware, Marion, the home of Senator Harding, Upper Sandusky, Carey, Fostoria and Bowling Green, en route to Detroit. On Saturday he speaks at Sandusky, Ellettsville and Cleveland.

White In Happy Frame Of Mind; Sees Victory For Governor Cox

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—George H. White, chairman of the Democratic National committee, in a formal statement today declared:

"This is a very happy day for those who favor the league of nations, principally because Senator Harding is again on the stump."

"Every time he has left the front porch he has made hundreds of thousands of votes for Governor Cox, and in Kentucky and Tennessee his effectiveness in that direction should be acknowledged," declared Mr. White. "He is a champion of the own species, on the basis that he charges them and then as he reads them in print, and that is a quality which does not appeal to Kentuckians and Tennesseans."

"Another source of our happiness is the published claim of 'Will'

Premiums Paid For Delivery On Sheet Steel Cancelled

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 13.—Independent sheet steel manufacturers today advised that the premiums paid for deliveries on sheets had been cancelled by some companies as the result of a conference held with the Ford automobile interests.

No reduction has been announced in the price of sheets aside from that away with the premiums, but manufacturers admit that the conference, held recently in Detroit, agreed upon a new future basis of prices.

One company is said to be preparing to make December deliveries upon a new price basis, agreed upon but not yet announced.

COX PREACHES GOSPEL OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

LIMA, O., Oct. 13.—Through Ohio today Governor Cox told home state residents that he was "preaching the gospel of the league of nations" as the pre-eminence issue of the campaign.

An early morning crowd at Van Wert, a large rear platform gathering at Delphos and a capacity audience here at Memorial Hall cheered the Democratic presidential candidate.

Continuing the religious tone of his lecture arguments, Governor Cox said: "I come to you in the religious spirit that has possessed the soul of America. I am preaching peace on earth, good will toward men, that the angels sang when the Savior was born. I want to talk to your consciences in the consideration of the greatest question of the century. What is your duty to your country and to your God? It is almost too sacred a question to be considered in a political campaign—where it was forced by the senatorial conspiracy."

"I ask you before your God whether you can consistently support any proposition except enduring peace in a year."

Questions regarding the league were asked by the governor's audience at his invitation. At Van Wert the candidate was asked how the league would "enforce its mandate." He replied by stating that the league doctrine enfolded the same idea as the league and that no shot had been fired in 40 years for its maintenance.

At Delphos, the governor said a large Republican poster declared: "Let's be done with wiggles and wobble!"

In sharp tones, the governor, declaring Senator Harding had taken eleven different league positions, said: "That's where it deserves to be plastered, right beside the pictures of the reactionary rabble."

Advocating league membership, where it was forced by the senatorial conspiracy, Governor Cox stated that "Germany already has made an application for membership and the predicted that Mexico would within proposition except enduring peace in a year."

Allen Says West Determined To Get Rid Of Wilsonism

NEW YORK, October 13.—Governor representative Fowley, of Michigan, Allen, of Kansas, conferring with leading chairmen of the congressional ways and means committee, urged that the tariff issue be made the primary question that he had found in the west of the campaign.

"The situation is critical and must be cleared or sidetracked by the League of Nations or any other issue," Mr. Fowley said. "Harking back to the days of American factories, which were established by half time factories, devaluing values, reduced wages and need of employment."

"It is the inevitable result of our wholly inadequate tariff laws. Reasonable barriers must be erected to our seaboard or one will be created by the doors of American factories. We must equalize the difference in the cost of production here and abroad or invite disaster."

Governor Allen predicted a Republican landslide as great, if not greater, than that which swamped Julio Aron in Parker, a number of years ago.

Republican national headquarters today made public a telegram from Rep.

185 audiences tried it this way

MOST people know that the musical enjoyment which they get out of a phonograph depends upon one thing. That thing is the phonograph's realism.

This picture shows the best way to test a phonograph's realism. Miss Betsy Lane Shepherd, the famous soprano, is standing beside the New Edison, and singing in direct comparison with the New Edison's RE-CREATION of her voice.

185 audiences, aggregating more than 100,000 people, have actually heard this comparison. None could distinguish between her living voice and its RE-CREATION.

This is one of the phenomenal records of realism. The New Edison holds all other records of realism, too, because no other phonograph attempts this comparison-test—or could sustain it.

This is your test! It will help you determine what the New Edison's Realism means, in terms of your own musical enjoyment.

Teacher Is Assaulted

MRS. ROSE E. TUTTLE, of Portsmouth, Maine, who says she feels like she has taken a new lease on life since taking Tangle. Her rheumatism and other troubles have been overcome.

"Tangle is the greatest medicine on earth, and I just wish it was for every woman who suffers like I did could know at all it will really do," said Mrs. Rose E. Tuttle, of 203 Congress Street, Portland, Maine, recently.

"No one will ever know how I suffered," she said. "My stomach was so disordered I had to be very careful about what I ate. Potatoes and other starchy foods would completely upset me. Frequently after meals I would have terrible pains in my stomach, my breath would get short, and I would have a depressed and uneasy feeling about my heart. Often I was troubled with pains under my shoulder blades and I frequently had bilious attacks. I also suffered with rheumatism, and this, together with my other troubles, was simply wrecking my health. I felt weak, nervous and run-down all the time, and seemed to be losing weight and strength every day. My sleep was poor, and often I was in such misery I wouldn't close my eyes all night long.

"Before I finished my first bottle of Tangle I realized I had at last found the right medicine. My condition improved daily as I continued taking Tangle, my appetite picked up and I was soon eating three hearty meals every day without suffering in the least afterwards. That horrible indigestion has disappeared. I am no longer nervous, I sleep soundly all night and feel splendidly all during the day. My strength has been increased until I can now do all my housework with ease. I am praising Tangle every opportunity I have."

Tangle is sold in Portsmouth by the Fisher and Stretch Pharmacy and the leading druggists in every town. Adv.

Miss Bishop, teacher at the colored school on Eleventh street, swore out school building. She further declared in a warrant in Municipal court Wednesday afternoon for the arrest of Mrs. Clint Thomas, colored, of Thirteenth street, for assault and battery, charged by the complainant in court. The accused has been ordered to appear before Judge Small to answer to the charge.

Officials Are On Way

Directors and some of the officials of the N. & W. will pass through Portsmouth this afternoon on their way to Columbus on an inspection trip. They will occupy a special train, which left Roanoke last night. The special will return to Portsmouth late tonight on its return trip to Roanoke.

It has been suggested that a provision for the establishment of one-way streets be incorporated in the new ordinance. Members of the auto club and others interested in the legislation are expected to be present and offer suggestions of changes in the final draft of the ordinance.

ONE VOTE FOR ONE NATION

THE abrupt somersault of Senator Harding on the league of nations and the advent of two major Democratic candidates has apparently quickened public interest in that issue somewhat and occasionally small groups may be heard discussing it.

Perhaps, that is why The Times has been appealed to to settle a point that rather oddly, it would seem, rises as the chief bone of contention. Briefly this is: Has the United States only one vote in the league, while England, with her colonies, has six votes?

The query illustrates how politics commonly run, a mere matter of assertion and denial, without regard to fact or truth.

But to answer it resort must be had to the league of nations covenant itself and there we will find the basis for the assertion that England has six votes to the United States' one and why, though true in the letter it is false in the effect.

To make this clear let this be said. The league of nations compact provides for the creation of three bodies, an assembly, a council and a court of justice, with powers and functions prescribed. The assembly may be composed of not more than three representatives from each nation or a colony with an internal government of its own, for instance the United States and Great Britain, Canada and Porto Rico. Neither nation nor colony can have more than one vote, no matter if it do choose to send three delegates instead of one to the assembly. The assembly is merely advisory. It can recommend certain action, but it can not act, or decree.

The council is to be composed of eight members, the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy and, for the present of Belgium, Spain, Brazil and Greece. Each nation has one vote and no more. It is the governing and authoritative body of the league. It alone can say what the league shall do or not do. Still it can't do anything unless every nation agrees, one dissenting vote blocks its action.

The court of international justice isn't materially different in its conception and proposed operation from any other courts. It is to pass upon matters of international law and issues presented to it by disagreeing nations and consider upon other matters that council may submit to it. No power is granted to it to enforce its decrees, but the council must be relied upon to give them effect.

The assembly then has the same relation to the council of the league of nations that the board of control has to the council of the city of Portsmouth. Its members, the mayor and the service and safety director have permission to consider any matter that affects the welfare of the city and all of them or any one of them can put suggestion and advice thereon to council, but unless council approves and acts there the matter dies. So with the league assembly it can advise council what to do, but the matter of doing rests with council.

TRYING PANACEA OF WORK

GERMAN confidence in generalization is unknown and trust in obedience to all demands of generalization when undertaken in the interest of national prosperity is as firm under the republic as when the Hohenzollerns gave orders. Democratic Germany has substituted universal work service for universal military service for all within the former military age and expects a more willing response, although the history of compulsory labor does not contain much that is encouraging.

The idea of the ministry of economics is that if Germans between certain ages were willing to give a certain number of years to arbitrary military service, from which they gathered nothing but promises, they should be more willing to contribute one year's work service, the results of which the ministry believes cannot fail to be beneficial to individual citizens and national welfare.

Except for the difference in actual occupation the law proposed by the ministry, for which approval by the reichstag will be asked, is somewhat similar in its conditions to the old military service law. For one full year all citizens between certain ages are to be subject to work service at whatever occupation assigned by official judgment.

The scheme is the first of the preparatory steps for the complete reconstruction of Germany in which every able-bodied citizen is expected to co-operate. Whether the law will include women has not been determined, but in view of the shortage of male labor power it is possible. Germany is one of the few countries in which such a plan may be tried with any hope of success and results will not be without strong interest for all nations.

When history repeats itself it sometimes makes more noise than it did the first time.

The mind of a single-track kind should carry tail lights to avoid rear-end collisions.

Presidential Campaigns

By Frederic J. Haskin

The Surprise of 1916

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—

The campaign of 1916 will doubtless live long in the memories of men as an election when thousands of persons, including the Republican candidate, went to bed believing that the Republicans had won and woke up to find that the reverse was the case.

All of the Republicans and many of the Democrats seemed to believe that it was a Republican year, and the whole strategy of the Republican campaign seemed to be based on the assumption that the Republicans would surely win, provided they did not commit any egregious blunder.

The rift in the Republican ranks, caused by the defection of Roosevelt four years before had been ostensibly healed. Roosevelt had lunched with Hughes, the Republican candidate, and had emerged with the announcement that he and Hughes were in complete accord.

All of the Republican papers announced that the Grand Old Party was once more a flawless unit in the battle for righteousness and prosperity. However, did not fail to remark that on the Republican platform of 1916 bore no resemblance whatever to that of the Progressives in 1912, and that a good many Progressive leaders were not obviously following their late champion back into the fold.

The council is to be composed of eight members, the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy and, for the present of Belgium, Spain, Brazil and Greece. Each nation has one vote and no more. It is the governing and authoritative body of the league. It alone can say what the league shall do or not do. Are Voters Intelligent?

This Republican campaign was based upon an idea which is in direct contrast with the theory of Democratic government, and has often proved to be in direct contrast with the facts of it. The theory is that the American voter is a person of independent judgment and good sense who votes always in obedience to these qualities. The fact has often appeared to be that he is blinded by personal prejudice, and votes according to his emotion of the moment, throwing cool judgment to the winds.

In this case the prejudice theory did not seem to work to perfection. Wilson at least offered a definite statement of aims and intentions, while Hughes offered nothing but opposition to Wilson and the pleas of party loyalty. No one has ever decided exactly what happened, but it might be said that when the smoke cleared away, the Republican party was found prostrate on the field with the tracks of the independent voters all about it. In California, which was the decisive state in the election, the voting was so independent and the tickets were so heavily and curiously scratched that it took a long time to count the vote and many minor errors were made.

What happened in California has not been regarded as a mystery. Senator Hiram Johnson, running on the Republican ticket and occasionally supporting Hughes, carried it for himself by a colossal majority. Yet it gave a majority to Wilson for president. Some hazarded the guess that the independent and progressive element back of Johnson was not wholly satisfied with the Hughes campaign. That progressive vote which Roosevelt led back to the fold did not seem to be as large as it had been when he led it away in 1912. The west, which had given Roosevelt most of his votes in 1912 was what carried the day for Wilson in 1916. The result seemed to confirm what had been indicated four years before that there is really a body of independent and thinking voters in the country who will not travel in parliaments leading strings, but will follow a leader of either party if they think he is offering something definite.

Next to this emergence of an independent vote, perhaps the most interesting thing was the participation of labor in the campaign. It will be remembered that in 1908 the American Federation of Labor had for the first time taken a partisan stand. It was generally agreed afterwards that the labor leaders had failed to deliver the labor vote both that year and the following one. Nevertheless there was significance in the fact that organized labor had entered partisan politics without disrupting its organization, as it had done at least twice before. In 1916 labor had more judgments for supporting the Democratic party than ever before. The Adamson eight-hour law had just been put on the books in the midst of a storm of denunciation from capital and of approval from labor.

Whether labor really voted the Democratic ticket in 1916 was at least a moot question. The big industrial centers of the east went Republican as usual, thus indicating conclusively that the labor vote was at least divided there. On the other hand, there seemed to be no doubt but that labor in many western states was fairly solid for the Democrats. The railroad men, especially in the west, voted for Wilson in large blocks. This was perhaps the nearest thing to a "class vote" which had ever been cast in the United States. No one thought much about it at the time, but with the intensification of class feeling that the war brought about, and the recent formation of a Farmer-Labor party, it begins to become apparent that, for better or for worse, parties based upon class and occupational interest are almost certain to supersede the ancient and now largely meaningless divisions into Democratic and Republican parties.

New-York - Day-By-Day

BY G. O. MONTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—In this era of shrewd buying, lately households stand brazenly at the curb of the five and ten cent store on Fifth Avenue. Indeed, it is becoming a shopping center—so much so that the blind and crippled beggar who used to stand three blocks away now stands in its shadow.

The push-cart section on Hester Street is now enjoying its own patronage. There are real bargains to be found in this colorful section. Yiddish merchants have heretofore depended on East Side buyers and the bargain-hunters are sharp.

But the hordes from uptown have learned that it is considered bad luck to push cart men not to make a sale so they are begging with all the fervor of the natives.

The push cart merchants sell everything from pins to phonographs. Most of them are old men whose sons belong to another day—the day of ready-made and silk shirts. The fathers are daily visitors to the haberdasherie, strictly orthodox and at night gather on the steps of the tenement section silent and brooding.

Hester street is filled with young, full-blooded, red cheeked girls. They obey their parents better than the sons and assist in the sales. In many instances they display the merchandise in a fetching manner—for there are push-carts piled with hats, shawls, ribbons and shoes.

Another phase of the craze for bargaining is evident in the high priced hotels. The guests may stay there but they eat at the little cafeterias that dot the neighborhood. Down in the Grand Central hotel district scores of these cafeterias have bloomed overnight. Their patronage comes from the big hotels.

I had dinner the other night at the most table to Charlie Chaplin, the film star. Charlie takes big bites just as I tip his soup plate in the same fashion. He looks like you would expect him to be in real life. Of course, the absence of the moustache may account for that. But his face is longer and more youthful than I expected. He was in correct dinner dress and did not display any self-consciousness although writers had spread the news that it was none other than he and all eyes were upon him from soup to nuts. He might well be taken for a young man of 24 or 25. He has an English drawl and says "well-well-well" "heavily" and "my word". He smoked several cigarettes during his meal, the tip he left I couldn't help but see it was not remarkably big for the character of the place. Going out I think many people expected him to trip, smack his hand perpetually in some lady's soup and then whirl around and upset a huge vase at the doorway.

The gilded after theatre places look so pitiful after the play these days. No one goes out for supper. Instead they ride to apartments where Meadows has a fine frost on the cocktail shaker and a goodly dell upon the wine. The soda water places get a good patronage but the sturdy places where one crossed bedding pajamas with $10 bills to get a good table are gladly in their lifelessness. Quite a few are considering closing after the dinner hour—so dull is the business. It is said that an old time New Yorker sent a wire to Cap (Charlton) the other day—as per his usual custom—asking for a good table on New Year's Eve. The poor fellow is prospecting for gold in Alaska and didn't come to the States last year

BROKER BARES 'WHISKEY RING', CLAIM CONGRESSMEN INVOLVED, CLAIM

LIQUOR TRAFFIC COVERS THREE NATIONS, CHARGED

CHICAGO, October 14.—Walter Sadler, New York broker, whose confession of participation in illicit whiskey selling activities on an enormous scale, sent federal authorities throughout the country on a hunt for other members of the alleged "ring", was to appear today before the federal grand jury to repeat the story he told authorities.

Reports that his confession had been made public too soon brought forth rumors that important witnesses had been able to escape, but this was denied by government officials. They said all the men named by Sadler were being watched night and day. District Attorney Chase, however, said there had been a "leak" in making public the announcement of the confession, and enforced efforts were being made to find out who was responsible.

"I have made a clean breast of the matter to federal authorities," Sadler said. "My statement to them covers about forty pages of typewritten matter. I expect to tell the grand jury substantially the same story, perhaps a little more by detail."

"There are men mentioned in my statement, whose names have not yet been made public. I have been warned that they will try to reach me with offers of money or with threats of reprisal. I haven't any statement to make about that except that I'll go through."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—As a result of the amazing whiskey ring revelations in Chicago, prohibition officials are making investigations in practically every city in the United States, it was announced.

Particular effort is being made to ascertain whether officials or employees in Washington have aided members of the ring to obtain permits for whiskey by illegal means.

According to reports that have reached Prohibition Commissioner Kramer, at least two members of congress and officials are involved in the Chicago revelations.

In Canada and Mexico

Officials believe that the investigation will disclose activities of the ring throughout Canada, and Mexico as well as in the United States.

For months past prohibition officials have been baffled by the large quantities of liquor from Canada. On one occasion an entire section of a border town was found with whiskey for sale in the hands of a designated person in upper New York state.

From this point the liquor could have found its way to New York city.

Operations of a gang of rum-runners between Canada and the United States is said to amount for large amounts of liquor now offered for sale in New York.

He Located a Saloon

A few days ago one investigator found a saloon in the theatrical district which specializes in Scotch and Irish whiskey at one dollar a drink and from twelve to fifteen dollars per quart. The usual price for liquor sold over the bar in New York was found to be fifty cents.

Officials of the internal revenue department today stated that a woman employee of the department had been guilty of accepting bribes to permit withdrawal of permits.

The mother of Mrs. Gladys W. Anderson, former prohibition commissioner for California, from which state it was stated, in the fact that she was affiliated in that state was not officially administered. It was stated, however, that nothing had been disclosed that could connect Mrs. Anderson with the Chicago scandal.

TEN ARE SAVED FROM GALLOWS BY REPRIEVES

CHICAGO, October 14.—Reprieves or stays of execution for all but three of the thirteen men who had been sentenced to hang here today or tomorrow, have been granted, and today Frank Campione, and James Henry Reese, negro, awaited the gallows. Frank Zagar is under sentence to hang tomorrow.

Campione was convicted of the murder of a saloon keeper during a robbery, and Reese was found guilty of killing his wife with a hatchet. Zagar was convicted of killing two Greeks. Efforts to have him adjudged insane proved futile.

Chief of police Garrity, in discussing the reprieves, for ten of the convicted men, issued the following statement:

"The fact that all but three of thirteen murderers have slipped their neck from the noose, is an indication to the common to go back to their professions."

"In my opinion the big reduction in murders this year, recently made the subject of a report by the Chicago Crime Commission, is in part at least the result of thirteen hanging sentences which served as warnings to the gunmen."

"When the gunmen, who are watching these cases carefully, note the final result of the sentences they may be expected to smile at the law and begin murdering again."

White In Happy Frame Of Mind; Sees Victory For Governor Cox

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, in a formal statement today, declared:

"This is a very happy day for those who favor the league of nations, principally because Senator Harding is in the state of mind."

"Every time he has left the front porch he has made hundreds of thousands of votes for Governor Cox, and in Kentucky and Tennessee his effectiveness in that direction should break all records," declared Mr. White. "He is so afraid of his own speeches on the league that he changes them, as soon as he reads them in print, and that is a quality which does not appeal to Kentuckians and Tennesseans."

"Another source of our happiness today is the published claim of Will Hays that his party will gain senators in California, Idaho, Arizona, Colorado, Nevada, South Dakota and Kentucky and will hold its seats in North Dakota, Utah and Missouri. I take this extravagant and baseless claim to mean that the Republican chairman is very much alarmed about these states, as he should be."

SIX WOMEN HELD UP IN A TAXICAB

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Six women, wives of prominent manufacturers and business men here, were held up and robbed early today in a taxicab, of jewels valued at $4,500, and several hundred dollars in cash, but five of them saved the greater part of their jewelry, worth more than $30,000, by dropping it on the floor of the car, while the first woman was surrendering her jewelry.

The bandits, they said, were two young men who hopped on the running board of their taxicab as they were leaving a social function at the home of a friend.

The bandits ordered the driver of the car to drive to a lonely spot, and upon reaching there ordered the women to hand over their jewelry. Mrs. David Rotansky, wife of the head of a shoe company, was the heaviest loser, handing over three diamond rings and a diamond lavalliere.

Clark Griffith, of the Washington-American League Club, it develops, was named a committee of one recently to inspect and pass judgment on sites proposed for the new park for the New York Yankees in Manhattan. Since the American League has agreed to finance building the new park it will have something to say about location and plans. Three sites are in view as Griffith will make recommendations concerning them. Last night in the Scrib's Bowling League the Wreckers, headed by Billie Brown, took the Messengers out of the place and sent them down to fourth place in team standing by winning two of the three games from them. Presumably to last night's game the Wreckers had failed to win a game and were rather discouraged, but after winning the first game from the revamped Messengers they took on new life and in was very optimistic after the success and warned the other teams to keep on their toes. Eddie Rock and Billie Brown were both in good form last night and in these men Capt. Wood took two rolling good bowlers. Presumably the Messengers also got their share of the pins. For the Messengers I tried the best work, closely followed by Faught. Baltimore has now won four out of the five games played and needs one more victory to be declared winner of the series. The two to be played in St. Paul.

The Cleveland Indians can easily lay claim to one of the greatest outbursts in the history of the national league game, in spite of all the great pitchers that have gone before. This Speaker, Elmer Smith, Jockey Jameson, Joe Wood and Joe Evans are not surprised by man.

They are the greatest of the greatest all-around outfielder in the game today for in addition to having the managerial eye of the team, he is shonders he led the team in batting, powerfully trailed Sister for the championship, in addition to being one of the greatest fielding outfielders of the game. And then Smith is a terrible bitter, a clever assassin in the throwing and fielding game. Wood, Jameson and Evans can't leave these two and by picking each from the fire it would not be fair to the Cobb-Crawford-Sloper-Lewis-Spencer-South-

ONE VOTE FOR ONE NATION

THE abrupt somersault of Senator Harding on the league of nations and the advent of two major Democratic candidates has apparently quickened public interest in that issue somewhat and occasionally small groups may be heard discussing it.

Perhaps, that is why The Times has been appealed to to settle a point that rather oddly, it would seem, rises as the chief bone of contention. Briefly this is it: Has the United States only one vote in the league, while England, with her colonies, has six votes?

The query illustrates how politics commonly run, a mere matter of assertion and denial, without regard to fact or truth.

But to answer it resort must be had to the league of nations compact itself and there we will find the basis for the assertion that England has six votes to the United States' one and why though true in the letter it is false in effect.

To make this clear let this be said. The league of nations compact provides for the creation of three bodies, an assembly, a council and a court of justice, with powers and functions prescribed. The assembly may be composed of not more than three representatives from each nation or a colony with an internal government of its own, for instance the United States and Great Britain, Canada and Porto Rico. Neither nation nor colony can have more than one vote, no matter if it do choose to send three delegates instead of one to the assembly. The assembly is merely advisory. It can recommend certain action, but it can not act, or decree.

The council is to be composed of eight members, the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, and for the present of Belgium, Spain, Brazil and Greece. Each nation has one vote and no more. It is the governing and authoritative body of the league. It alone can say what the league shall do or not do. Still it can't do anything unless every nation agrees, one dissenting vote blocks its action.

The court of international justice isn't materially different in its conception and proposed operation from any other courts. It is to pass upon matters of international law and issues presented to it by disagreeing nations and consider upon other matters that council may submit to it. No power is granted to it to enforce its decrees, but the council must be relied upon to give them effect. The assembly then has the same relation to the council of the league of nations that the board of control has to the council of the city of Portsmouth. Its members, the mayor and the service and safety director have permission to consider any matter that affects the welfare of the city and all of them or any one of them can put suggestion and advice thereon to council, but unless council approves and acts there the matter dies. So with the league assembly it can advise council what to do, but the matter of doing rests with council.

TRYING PANACEA OF WORK

GERMAN confidence in generalization is unknown and trust in obedience to all demands of generalization when undertaken in the interest of national prosperity is as firm under the republic as when the Hohenzollerns gave orders. Democratic Germany has substituted universal work service for universal military service for all within the former military age and expects a more willing response, although the history of compulsory labor does not contain much that is encouraging.

The idea of the ministry of economics is that if Germans between certain ages were willing to give a certain number of years to arbitrary military service, from which they gathered nothing but promises, they should be more willing to contribute one year's work service, the results of which the ministry believes cannot fail to be beneficial to individual citizens and national welfare.

Except for the difference in actual occupation the law proposed by the ministry, for which approval by the reichstag will be asked, is somewhat similar in its conditions to the old military service law. For one full year all citizens between certain ages are to be subject to work service at whatever occupation assigned by official judgment.

The scheme is the first of the preparatory steps for the complete reconstruction of Germany in which every able-bodied citizen is expected to co-operate. Whether the law will include women has not been determined, but in view of the shortage of male labor power it is possible. Germany is one of the few countries in which such a plan may be tried with any hope of success and results will not be without strong interest for all nations.

When history repeats itself it sometimes makes more noise than it did the first time.

The mind of a single-track kind should carry tail lights to avoid rear-end collisions.

Presidential Campaigns

By Frederic J. Haskin

The Republic of 1916
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The campaign of 1916 will doubtless live long in the memories of men as an election when thousands of persons, including the Republican candidate, went to bed believing that the Republicans had won and woke up to find that the reverse was the case.

All of the Republicans and many of the Democrats seemed to believe that it was a Republican year, and the whole strategy of the Republican campaign seemed to be based on the assumption that the Republicans would surely win, provided they did not commit any egregious blunder.

The rift in the Republican ranks, caused by the defection of Roosevelt four years before, had been extensively healed. Roosevelt had lunched with Hughes, the Republican candidate, and had emerged with the announcement that he and Hughes were in complete accord. All of the Republican papers announced that the Grand Old Party was once more a flawless unit in the battle for righteousness and prosperity. Democratic and Independent organs, however, did not fail to remark that on the Republican platform of 1916 bore no resemblance whatever to that of the Progressives in 1912, and that a good many Progressive leaders were not obviously following their late champion back into the fold. Roosevelt was pictured as the prodigal son returning home bringing his own fatted calf, and the picture was a small and reluctant creature. Certainly it was not the husky animal that had caused so much commotion four years before.

A Say-Nothing Campaign
The Hughes campaign was distinguished by its remarkably negative character. Never, in fact, has such an other non-committal campaign been conducted in this country, unless the present year be considered as breaking all previous records in that direction. Mr. Hughes announced that he was for unadorned Americanism, but both he and his supporters refrained from any exact definition of that quality. He also announced himself as in favor of a very conservative view of the presidential office, stating that in his opinion the president was merely the administrative head of the government and not the leader of his party. He advocated a higher tariff on necessary goods for the interests of labor, but he made the making of this tariff was up to congress and not to him.

The reasoning on the part of Republican leaders which lay back of this non-committal campaign is not hard to guess, nor was it then employed for the first or for the last time. It was a fact admitted by all that Wilson had raised up a host of antagonists against himself. The Progressives were against him because he had written rather sharp notes to Germany, and the red-neck patriots and pro-Allies were because he had not declared war on Germany. The Irish were more or less peeved about his attitude toward Ireland, and the Catholics did not like his Mexican policy.

The professional politicians who manage campaigns doubtless argued that the wise thing to do was to sit tight and let these antagonists beat the Democrats. It was not necessary, they reasoned, for their candidate to take any very positive stand, and it was imperatively necessary that he should not provoke any antagonisms on his own account. He was chosen as a man of high character and fine record whom no one had anything against, and the big idea was to keep him thus unscathed. Hence he was put in a place of conservatism, and set to plowing pretty safe bubbles of platitudes and generalization, while Mr. Wilson and his supporters went about the country harping kind words of "fact about what they had done and what they were going to do.

Are Voters Indifferent?
This Republican campaign was based upon an idea which is in direct discord with the theory of Democratic government, and has often proved to be in direct accord with the facts of it. The theory is that the American voter is a person of independent judgment and good sense who votes always in obedience to those qualities. The fact has often appeared to be that he is blinded by personal prejudice, and votes according to his emotion of the moment, throwing cool judgment to the winds.

In this case the prejudice theory did not seem to work to perfection. Wilson at least offered a definite statement of aims and intentions, while Hughes offered nothing but opposition to Wilson and the plans of party loyalty. No one has ever decided exactly what happened, but it might be said that when the smoke cleared away, the Republican party was found prostrate on the field with the trucks of the Independent voters all about it. In California, which was the decisive state in the election, the voting was so independent and the tickets were so heavily and variously scratched that it took a long time to count the vote and many minor errors were made.

What happened in California has always been regarded as a mystery. Senator Hiram Johnson, running on the Republican ticket and ostensibly supporting Hughes, carried it for himself by a colossal majority. Yet it gave a majority to Wilson for president. Some have said the guess that the Independent and progressive element back of Johnson was not wholly satisfied with the Hughes campaign. That progressive vote which Roosevelt led back to the fold did not seem to be as large as it had been when he led it away in 1912. The west, which had given Roosevelt most of its votes in 1912 was what carried the day for Wilson in 1916. The result seemed to confirm what had been indicated four years before—that there is really a body of independent and thinking voters in the country who will not travel in partisan leading strings, but will follow a leader of either party if they think he is offering something definite.

Labor Makes Political Progress
Next to this emergence of an independent vote, perhaps the most interesting thing was the participation of labor in the campaign. It will be remembered that in 1908 the American Federation of labor had for the first time taken a partisan stand. It was generally agreed afterwards that the labor leaders had failed to deliver the labor vote both that year and the following one. Nevertheless there was significance in the fact that organized labor had entered partisan politics without disrupting its organization, as it had done at least twice before. In 1916 labor had more indications for supporting the Democratic party than ever before. The Adamson eight-hour law had just been put on the books in the midst of a storm of denunciation from capital and of approval from labor.

Whether labor really voted the Democratic ticket in 1916 was at least a moot question. The big industrial centers of the east went Republican as usual, thus indicating conclusively that the labor vote was at least divided there. On the other hand, there seemed to be no doubt but that labor in many western states was fairly solid for the Democrats. The railroad men, especially in the west, voted for Wilson in large blocks. This was perhaps the nearest thing to a "class vote" which had ever been cast in the United States. No one thought much about it at the time, but with the intensification of class feeling that the war brought about, and the recent forma-

New-York - Day - By - Day

By G. A. McINTOSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—In this era of shrewd buying, shrewdly shrewdly stand bravely at the curb of the five and ten cent store on Fifth Avenue. It is becoming a shopping center—so much so that the filled and un-filled bagger who used to stand there blocks away now stands in its shadow.

The push-cart section on Hester Street is now enjoying upturn patronage. There are real bargains to be found in this colorful section. Yiddish merchants have heretofore depended on East Side buyers and the bargain line is sharp.

But the hordes from uptown have learned that it is considered bad luck by the push cart men not to make a sale so they are haggling with all the fervor of the natives.

The push cart merchants sell everything from pins to phonographs. Most of them are old men whose sons belong to another day—the day of gaudy hose and slicker shirts. The fathers are daily visitors to the Tabernacle, strictly orthodox and at night gather on the steps of the tenement section about and brooding.

Another phase of the craze for bargaining is evident in the high priced hotels. The guests may stay there but they eat at the little cafeterias that dot the neighborhood. Down in the Grand Central hotel district scores of these cafeterias have blossomed overnight. Their patronage comes from the big hotels.

I had dinner the other night at the next table to Charlie Chaplin, the film star. Charlie takes his bites just as I and tips his soup plate in the same fashion. He looks little as you would expect him to in real life. Of course, the absence of the mustache may account for that. But his face is looser and more youthful than I expected. He was in correct dinner dress and did not display any self consciousness although waiters had spread the news that he was more other than he and all eyes were upon him from soup to nuts. He might well be taken for a young man of 24 or 25. He has an English drawl and says "extraordinary," "really," and "My word!" He smoked several cigarettes during his meal, the tip in left hand couldn't help but character of the place. Going out I think many people expected him to tip, since his hand kept coming in some kind of a soup and then whirl around and upset a huge vase at the doorway.

The glided after theatre places look so pitiful after the play these days. No one goes out for supper. Instead they ride to apartments where Maudslows has a fine front on the cocktail shaker and a goodly still upon the wall. The soda water places get a good patronage but the stately places where one crossed itching palms with $10 bills to get a good table are ghostly in their lifelessness. Cells a few are considering closing after the dinner hour—so dull is the business. It is said that an old time New Yorker sent a wire to Cap Chariball the other day—as per his usual custom—asking for a good table on New Year's Eve. The poor fellow is prospecting for gold in Alaska and didn't come to the states last year. Cap is arranging to take a fleet of doctors with him to Seattle to break the news when the ship arrives from the North.

Man of the Hour

Look for the man that's a fighter; Who'll never let go, but whom blow after blow Will only make hang on the tighter.

The man who will dig into tanks that are big Is always the one to be trusted. It's the jodelant chap who don't care a rap For success, with whom we're disgusted.

For the feet of a man is the way he will wear A difficult task and pitch in it. We judge men by deeds and know the world needs A man of the hour every minute.

"Oh, listen! That's the train whistle. Step on the accelerator, and we'll try to get across before it comes."

"They say these things can't possibly explode, no matter how much you throw them around."

"I wonder whether this rope will hold my weight."

"It's no fun swimming around in here. I'm going out beyond the life lines."

"Which one of these is the third rail, anyway?"

"There's only one way to manage a mule. Walk right in back of him and surprise him."

"That breccacher must have gone out. I'll light it again."

"Watch me skate out past the Danger Sign. I bet I can touch it!"

"These traffic policemen think they own the city. They can't stop me. I'm going to cross the street now. Let the chauffeurs look out for me."

"What a funny noise that make makes. I think I'll stop on that."

"I've never driven a car in traffic before. I think they say it's perfectly safe."

"I think I'll mix a little nitric acid with this chloride of potassium and see what happens."

Slippers—Slippers
A little girl was asked, upon her return home, how she liked the singing of the congregation in the church.

"I liked it very much, indeed," she said, "although all the people said it was bad."

"All the people said it was bad? What do you mean, my dear?"

"Oh, it was so bad I heard the people praying, 'Lord, have mercy upon us miserable sinners!'"

She Should Have Known Better
The magistrate was a very pompous man. He felt his position acutely. He felt it was his duty to be fair, just and witty.

"What's the prisoner's defence?" he demanded.

The clerk of the court glanced through the papers he held in his hands. "Prisoner says he mistook his mother-in-law for a fox. That's why he—"

THOMAS W. HARDWICK

Thomas W. Hardwick, former U. S. senator, has been chosen Democratic candidate for governor in Georgia. He won out in the primary election over Clifford Walker, former state attorney general.

Hardwick was defeated for reelection to the senate during the war because of his opposition to war and all war measures, but he is extremely popular in his state.

Hardwick was elected to the senate in 1914, and was elected by the people. He fathered a congressional resolution several years ago to investigate the "angry trust."

DISCOVER WATERWORKS "LEAK"

Water Works Manager George P. Shute, who recently took charge of the water works plant, has been busy checking up on water connections the last week of this week made a discovery in North Morland addition, back of New Boston, that shows where considerable of the city water is going without money being received for its use. Mr. Shute found that a number of houses had city water and that no records had been made of the taps. It is estimated that $500 worth of water is being used a year by families in these houses, the city having lost this much on account of the taps being made without a charge or record. The taps were made on a private line that was run to the May Dever farm. There is a city ordinance covering taps to water mains and the property owners using this "free water" can be prosecuted for making the taps and not paying for same. The City Service Director and Mr. Shute will work to have these taps paid for, and in some cases action may be brought against the property owners. Mr. Shute is endeavoring to cut down the huge waste of water, the daily consumption mounting higher almost every week.

The Clipping Reads As Follows:

The following statement was made by J. Ogden Armour to the New York Sun: The price cutting movement just started in the automobile, textile and metal industries began in the meat industry as soon as the war was over, and live stock today are at lower price levels than at any time. In the last three years, that these lower levels have not been reflected to greater degree in the retail price of meat is due to the tremendous slump in the value of various of the by-products. Both hiles and wool, which are big credits toward the costs of cattle and sheep, are selling at tremendous discounts on the prices which prevailed a year ago. Even so, meat at wholesale is nearer pre-war levels today than upon other essentials. There are no immediate prospects for further reductions in wholesale prices of meat, but the excellent crop now in the making promises cheaper production costs in the future and probably will make possible further price reductions next year.

Getting back to normal is highly desirable, but in the case of food, producers have already suffered heavy losses and if adequate production is to be maintained these losses must not be augmented.

Editor of the Times:
I do not know the names of the councilmen, I therefore will reach you through The Times.

I am asking you this question: Why don't the city make the people respect the traffic rules?

Are the people in Portsmouth too cheap to have traffic officers, or don't the councilmen look no further than their own pockets?

This is in regard to the accident on the Seaside bridge Saturday night concerning Herman Cole and Charles Kirkendall. I am well aware of the fact that they had lights on their vehicle or bicycled. Do you consider this right? If your son was to fall a victim in such an accident you would all look into it and would make an awful mess, therefore consider how other mothers and fathers feel. Therefore I am asking you to look into this accident to see why auto owners should run people down and leave them for dead without notifying the police or an ambulance? Please consider this carefully.

The accused has been ordered to appear before Judge Simul to answer to the charge.

FATHER GIVEN CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

The case of May P. Stockham and Russell Stockham was given another whirl in Common Pleas court Wednesday on a motion made by the defendant (Mr. Stockham) for a rehearing in regard to the custody of their two children, John, aged 7 and George, aged 5, who were given to the custody of the mother when the divorce decree was granted several days ago.

It was claimed that Mrs. Stockham violated the order of the court by refusing to allow Stockham the custody of the children Saturday afternoon. It was claimed that she took the children to a theatre at the time he was supposed to have them. She disclaimed all intentions of violating the court's order and claimed that her conduct was due to a misunderstanding of the order. The hearing resulted in the court modifying the order and giving the custody of the children to the father. The court adding that this action was for the best interest and welfare of the children. Judge A. Z. Blair who represented the wife gave notice of appealing the case. Attorney Edgar Miller represented Mr. Stockham.

Council To Wrestle With Traffic Ordinance Tonight

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary Honegger Lecher
Surrounded by her immediate family and relatives, Mrs. Mary Honegger Lecher received her reward of a long life beautifully spent in the service of her Master, when her Savior took her home at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Death came at the home, 723 Third street.

Long years of suffering were not strangers to her, but steadfastly through it all her faith in Him grew into sweet fellowship with the things of God, and so fittingly she embraced the opportunity to meet Him in the eternal home above.

Not satisfied with the revelation a Christian life gave to her, Mrs. Lecher made her faith an inspiration to all who knew her. Her presence was especially felt during a lifetime of service in the Franklin Avenue Methodist church, where she will be greatly missed.

Mrs. Lecher was born January 25, 1862, in this city, where she has always resided. In 1882 she was married to Charles A. Lecher, with whom she enjoyed thirty-eight years of loving companionship. To this union were born the son and three daughters, who, with their father, are left to survive her: Dr. Roy W. Lecher of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. L. L. Thomas of Indiana; and Mrs. L. L. Thomas of Craningham of this city.

Besides her immediate family, Mrs. Lecher is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Honegger, her sisters, Mrs. Clara Honegger, Mrs. Hattie Jenkins, Mrs. D. A. Berndt of this city, and Mrs. W. G. Helmschneider, Mrs. Carl Lorenz and one brother, A. L. Honegger, of Cleveland.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. C. E. Severinghaus Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the family residence, 723 Third street. Burial will be in Greenlawn.

Entertainment At Manly Tonight

Under the auspices of Liberty Class No. 2 a splendid entertainment will be given at the Manly Methodist church, Eleventh and Gay streets this evening, entitled: "Old Maid's Club." The entertainment will be a continuous laugh and round of pleasure. Those who will take part in the playlet have practiced faithfully and the play promises to go off without the slightest hitch or jar. The costumes to be worn by the performers will be of the 1840's vintage and so much interest has been created in the affair that a packed house is looked for. It is quite probable the playlet will be repeated on Friday evening.

Back In Philly
